When the caption writer on the Vallejo Times Herald got mixed up a little on his spelling and wrote "annual wedding" over the picture of a beautiful girl who had just had her wedding annuled, he many not have been far off.

There are a few surprises left in the humdrum existence of grinding out the day's news. Now a reputed "self made man" has admitted that it was just a case of pure luck that he got to the top. Maybe the fact that he is man enough to admit that luck played a part in his success, made him what he is today.

Paris has started a fad on big toes, insisting that they indicate character. Some of our alleged prominent citizens may continue to rest upon their laurels, because there is no chance of a barefoot fad just at present.

If advance indications mean anything, we are going to have an interesting election in El Cerrito in a few months. The boys are already beginning to pass around the well-known bouquets—with a brick concealed among the fragrant blossoms.

Jupiter Pluvius is not doing right by us this year, if anyone should ask the question seriously. Garden hose are already in active use and if this is going to keep up until September, the East Bay Utility district is going to pocket many a pretty penny. That is if they don't run out of water themselves. But then the directors assure us that there is plenty of water in the reservoirs.

But it would be kind of nice if it should decide to rain and help some of the plants and seeds along a little. The weeds are doing quite well as it is, thank you.

Many of us, no doubt, have been hungry enough at times "to eat nails," but it remained for a striped bass caught near Napa to put that threat into effect. The bass, which weighed 37½ pounds, was found to have eaten a five-inch spike when the successful anglers started to clean it.

For the information of husbands who are planning a trip to Paris. Court records show that no less than 51 wives killed their better halfs during the last year in the capital of France. Of these, 47 have been brought to trial. What happened to them after the trial was not divulged by our correspondent.

This gardening racket is all right in some respects, but here is the way it seems to work out. "Well, if you can spend that much for rose bushes I certainly am going to have a new dress — and those bulbs must have cost plenty, so we'll just add another dress and maybe a pair of silk stockings or two."

All of which is very well, for now when friend wife steps out to pluck the blossoms from the roses and the gladiolas and narcissus, or what did you plant, she will be tastefully garbed so that the neighbors will not be offended with an old dress in the new flower garden.

We still think we are correct when we said that a few flower gardens started in Richmond would accomplish a great deal to dress up the town. Ask us—we know!!!.

Strom To Supply New School Bus

J. P. Strom, local Oakland and Pontiac dealer, was awarded a contract by the Richmond board of education yesterday to furnish a school bus. Strom's bid of $3323 was the lowest of the seven bids opened by the board yesterday.

The bus will be used in the Kensington school district.

Routine matters were discussed by the board, which met under the direction of J. O. Ford.

MANY MORE WILL DIE, BELIEF

LINDEN, N. J. Feb .18.—UP—A fifteen foot wall of hissing flame swept through the Bayway refiery plant of the Standard Oil company here today, leaving a blackened trail of death and devastation in its wake and bringing up with a terrific explosion in the refinery's alcohol experimental building.

Five men are known to be dead, their bodies burned beyond recognition. Sixty-three others lie in hospitals at Elizabeth, some of them dying, many blinded for life.

Dr. Edward J. Rayne, one of the many physicians who worked for hours caring for the injured said late tonight that he feared most of them would die.

Conditions Critical

"The condition of most of the men in the Elizabeth hospitals," Dr. Rayne said, "is quite critical. The severity of their burns is almost unbelievable. Blindness, I fear, awaits most of those who do survive."

Most of the injured are workmen—bricklayers, carpenters and boilermakers—who were employed in the construction of a new building adjacent to the experimental plant.

A Naptha gas line, under pressure, burst. The escaping gas was ignited by the forges of the workmen. A hissing wall of flame swept through the building and into the laboratory.

Country Shaken

The resultant explosion shook the countryside for miles around.

Scenes of horror followed. Men seared almost to a crisp, staggered and crawled from the buildings, screaming hysterically in agony.

Others lay where they had fallen. Automobiles were pressed into service to carry the injured to the hospitals at Elizabeth. All available doctors in Elizabeth and Linden were called to the hospitals.

Identification of many of the victims was impossible. Their sufferings were so intense that little thought was given to the matter of identification. But this only added to the confusion. Wives and mothers and children, unable to find their husbands and sons and fahters, milled about in the hospital corridors. Some of the women fainted and others grew hysterical.

Thirty-five patients are in St. Elizabeht's hospital; 28 are at the Elizabeth general and one man is at the Alexian hospital.

Suspects Held In Wire Theft

MARTINEZ, Feb. 18—Charged with burglary, Henry Petitjian, 38, who says he is Joe Rivers, former lightweight boxer, and William Goddard, 26, are in the county jail here.

The pair was arrested yesterday by Constable Harry Stow and William Jordan, foreman of the grand jury, while emerging from a storehouse in the utility district on San Pablo creek near Orinda Park. Stow and Jordan declare that Petitjian and Goddard had just placed in an automobile, 100 pounds of copper wire that they had taken from the building.

Fish Meal Cargo To Be Loaded Here

A cargo of fish meal, to be used as fertilizer, will be loaded by the North German Lloyd steamer Donau, when it docks at the Richmond inner harbor next month.

The fish meal is being brought to Richmond by barge and train from Monterey and Pittsburg. The cargo is consigned to Germany.

Unidentified Man Adjudged Insane

MARTINEZ, Feb. 18—Superior Judge H. V. Alverado today adjudged insane an unidentified man who is said to have terrorized several Concord residents last week by threatening them with a knife. He was committed to the Stockton asylum.

CIGAR BUTT FIGHT STARTS AS COOLIDGE ENDS SMOKE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18—(U.P.)—The battle of the cigar-butt was fought on Olive street today.

As Calvin Coolidge neared his hotel, he threw away the inch long butt that remained of his cigar after a stroll in the downtown district.

Men, women and children—and that crowd was far from small—fought for the souvenir. Hands were stepped on, faces slapped and the former president smiled. A woman who flatly refused to give her name, carried off the cigar butt.

Coolidge, who wants to be a private citizen once more, tried to take a walk through downtown Los Angeles today and found that the public still regards him as a national figure.

Followed By Many

The former president was followed by hundreds of people every time he stepped out of a doorway. The same thing happened to Mrs. Coolidge when she emerged from their hotel to go to a beauty parlor.

After aiding his secretary in sorting four wastebaskets of mail, Coolidge turned to his stroll and a business visit. He went to the office of the New York Life Insurance company, of which he was made a director soon after he left the White House.

There, again, he came in for more attention than any ordinary citizen. He shook hands with 200

FOG TO END WARM WAVE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—UP—Scattered clouds of fog from the Pacific ocean, characterized by the United States Weather Bureau as "typical summer conditions" marked a definite end of the February heat wave in northern California today.

Thermometers registered 58 degrees at 3 p. m. a drop of 17 degrees from the readings on Sunday and Monday. Every day since last Thursday had been above 68 degrees and the month' records for 30 years had been broken.

Portland Mild

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 18.—UP—Perfectly normal weather was experienced here today. It was raining and the temperature was mild.

Drop In South

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18.—UP—The temperature in Los Angeles dropped nine degres from yesterday's 89—the highest in February since 1921—but spring weather still prevailed today with the mercury at 80 degrees.

Legion Members At Oakland Meet

Five members of the Richmond post of the American Legion last night attended a mass meeting in Oakland to hear the national chaplain of the American eLgion, Rev. George F. Kettell.

He spoke on the rehabilitation and hospitilization progrom of the legion, declaring that the organization secured 3000 new beds last year and will seek 7000 this year.

He a'so made an interesting talk on the universal draft law which is being studied by the government.

Members of the local post attending the meeting were Dr. Lowell R. Sears, commander; Harry Burt, vice commander; J. J. Barry, past commander; D. M. Bradley, chaplain and George Sanderson, service worker.

The Richmond post is planning an initiation ceremony to be held here Feb. 27. The Phil Solon 40 and 8 degree team will be present. The meeting will be for members and their wives.

AUSFAHLS BUY NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Ausfahl, who have been residing at 550 Forty-third street, have purchased a new home at 5800 Barrett avenue and plan to occupy their new home next week.

HOOVER ASKS TARIFF BILL PASSAGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—UP—President Hoover today made an earnest but conciliatory effort to get the Senate to hurry and pass a tariff bill. He thinks it is necessary to quiet business unrest, and to clear the way for passage of the necessary appropriation bills. From 20,000 to 30,000 federal employes may lose their jobs if the appropriation bills are not enacted by the middle of March, he fears.

A rift was opened, meanwhile, between House and Senate administration leaders. Republican Leader Watson in the Senate defended himself for Republican senators' failure to speak for Charles Evans Hughes, in the recent confirmation controversy.

"We had the votes, and the man's record spoke for itself," was Watson's defense. He did not refer directly to House Floor Leader Tilson.

Act Fast, Plea

The Senate and House leaders left the White House where they had taken breakfast, imbued with the president's spirit of the necessity to pass the tariff bill. The Hughes debate was not discussed, Watson said. He exhorted the

BURIED MINER FOUND ALIVE

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 18.—UP — A tragedy of the Northern coal mines was enacted tonight when rescue workers, after digging for more than 24 hours, came upon two men, one alive and the other dead, in the depths of the Green Hill mine near Blairmore, Alberta.

Soft coal dislodged by their picks caught Frank Bombardier and Frank Cheesek in an avalanche of debris in the isolated shaft several hundred miles west of here yesterday.

Brief telephone messages said that Bombardier had been rescued alive and that Cheesek still was in the mine, crushed to death.

Injunction For Antioch Hotel

MARTINEZ, Feb. 18—A permanent injunction against the Dahnken hotel in Antioch being used for purposes of lewdness was today issued by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie.

The injunction was issued following a trial instituted by District Attorney A. B. Tinning, who asked that the establishment be closed for one year under the terms of the redlight abatement act.

The suit was filed as the aftermath of a shooting in the hotel three months ago, when Charles Golden, Antioch policeman, shot Clyde Nichols in the leg.

Doctors Declare Doomed Woman Of Arizona, Insane

FLORENCE, Ariz., Feb. 18.—UP—A jury of 12 men today heard three physicians declare that Eva Dugan is not sane enough to pay the extreme penalty for murder of A. J. Mathis, aged Tuscon rancher.

The sanity hearing, the last effort to save Eva Dugan from being the first woman in the west to hang, was recessed tonight, and will be resumed Wednesday.

The 51 year old woman must die on the gallows Friday morning, unless she is declared insance.

BUILDING PERMIT

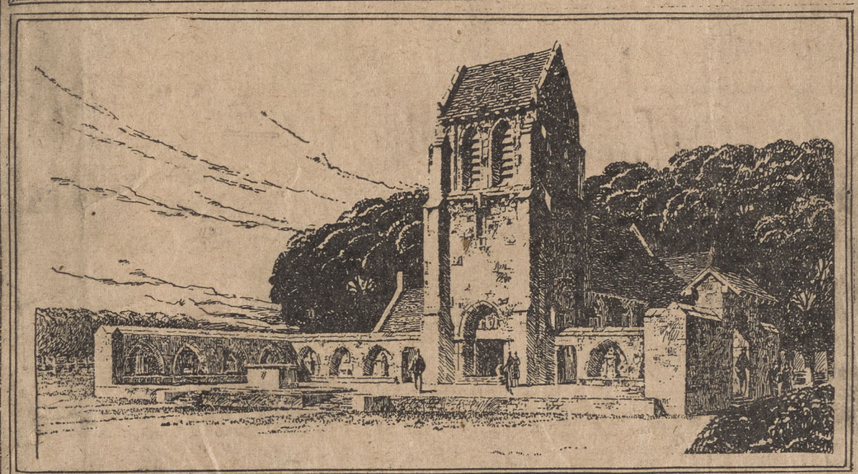
Proposed Memorial



ARCHITECT'S DRAWING shows proposed War Memorial to be located at Lakehurst, N. J. The American Legion and its auxiliary plan to build the chapel.

MAN AMUCK KILLS S.F. RADIO MAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—UP—Pedestrians on Market street, main downtown thoroughfare here, were panic stricken late today when J. B. Thomas, assistant manager of a radio shop, was shot and killed.

The man who fired the shot ran out of Thomas' shop, holding the revolver in plain sight. Adults and children scattered and sought safety of building entrances as the man made a dash for fredom. He was caught less than a block away by two detectives and said his name was William Mott.

The shooting followed threats against Thomas by the man who killed him, according to Thomas' wife. She said earlier in the day the man had come to the shop and predicted his act, claiming he believed her husband had informed on him to federal auhtorities.

DEFI FOUGHT IN PAVING PROBE

OAKLAND, Feb. 18.—District Attorney Earl Warren was today considering steps to meet the defi of J. H. Fitzmaurice, Oakland paving contracor, who has refused to testify before the grand jury, now investigating the Oakland paving "scandal."

The probe was given a new turn by Fitzmaurice's refusal to testify on the grounds that "he might incriminate himself," and the linking of Commissioner C. C. Young's name with the affair.

Young, who became identified with the paving row yesterday when Ray Fisher, Oakland paving salesman declared before the grand jury that Young was on the payroll of the Central Paving bureau, stated that he would make an explanation to the grand jury at the proper time.

Young, who is a civil engineer by trade said today that he had made it a strict practice, as a physician or attorney would do, to keep the names of his clients secret.

He stated that he has performed engineering work for thousands of clients during the last ten years, ranging from an ordinary lot survey to engineering reports of large industrial enterprises.

In concluding Young declared, "at the proper time and at the proper place and to ones authorized to ask and to know, I will freely give any information I may have in my possession which will tend to help in the present investigation."

Fire Excitement Causes Man's Death

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—UP—The heart of Charles Edwards failed here today as he ran from his home in night clothes while three nearby houses were being destroyed by fire. He was overcome by the excitement and died a few minutes later.

NAVAL MEET FACES DELAY

LONDON, Feb. 18—(U.P.)—America's naval delegates, who came here determined to stay until a limitations agreement was reached, faced the possibility today of remaining until April.

Four time-consuming developments caused them to fret during a day of almost complete inactivity:

First, the conference was practically at a standstill pending formation of a new cabinet in France. Marine minister Georges Leygues, after telling the conference chairman, Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald that the delegates of France were powerless to act at present, left for Paris, leaving Ambassador Joseph-Eime de Flueriau as the only accredited delegate on the scene.

Building Plans

Second, there was little hope that the French would recede from their demand for 724,000 tons of warships unless they were granted some guarantee of security in treaty form. The 724,000 figure has caused Great Britain to talk of building, which in turn would force the United States to construct new tonnage and complicate matters all around. Amendment of the Kellogg anti-war pact to please France was suggested as a way out.

Third, neither side had yielded an inch on the Japanese demand

OFFICIALS SEE NEW LIGHTS

Richmond's new lighting systems on Nevin avenue and Twenty-third street were inspected by members of the Richmond city council and other city officials last night.

The lights on the Nevin avenue system were turned on at seven o'clock and were turned off a half hour later. At 7:30 the new system on Twenty-third street was inspected.

Members of the council expressed their approval of the system.

Among the officials making the tour were Councilmen Mattie Chandler, W. W. Scott, George Imbach, Russell J. Meyer, R. J. Johnson, J. N. Hartnett, Virgil Fenner, Dr. A. B. Hinkley, City Manager James A. McVittie, City Engineer E. A. Hoffman and City Electrician D. S. DeLaney.

Meningitis Takes Concord Child

CONCORD, Feb. 18—As the result of the death last night of a 2-year old Japanese boy from spinal meningitis, Dr. I. O. Church has quarantined the family, which consists of the parents and five children.

The physician said today that none of the other children show symptoms of the disease.

V.F.W. GROUPS HEAR ABOUT PARK PLANS

Hollis Thompson, secretary of the Berkeley chamber of commerce was the honored speaker at a joint meeting of Honor post V. F. W. and its auxiliary in the Memorial hall las tright.

Thompson spoke on the proposed creation of an Eastbay recreation ground in the Wildcat Canyon district near Richmond. He stressed the importance of such a park, and declared that only a minimum eax would be assessed.

Thompson also spoke on the natural gas which has been installed in Richmond, and of the importance of a bay barrier.

Dan Shertle, past national vice commander gave a vivid talk on the National home of the V. F. W. and complimented Honor Post and the auxiliary as one of the first to come into the membership of the home.

The V. F. W. is the only veteran organization that has a national home for veterans, and members of the organization are justly proud of it, Shertle said.

Ed McCauley of Emeryville post proved a wonderful extemporaneous speaker when called upon.

McCanley is a commercial pilot and based his talk upon the importance of aviation, and the need for a landing field in every city. To show justification of his point, McCanley cited an instance when the gas line on his airplane broke and he was forced to land in the mud, a short distance from here.

Ralph Mitchell of Astor Post in Oakland also gave a brief talk on the V. F. W. National Home, and told of the benefits of such a home.

Prior to the joint meeting, the post initiated a group of candidates.

At this time it was announced that all veterans of the World war who have not filed their applications for compensation, are warned to file them before April 30, as that is absolutely the last date when they may be filed.

It was also announced that all veterans who are unemployed, and wish to take census, should communicate with Stewart, secretary of the Census Bureau, Washington, D. C., as veterans will be given first consideration.

Following the speeches a banquet was served under the direction of Roy oCoper and Charles Massa.

Elks Set Date For Dinner Dance

The Richmond lodge of Elks last night set March 8 as the date for their dinner dance to be held at the Oakland Elks temple.

Tickets for the event may be purchased at the offices of the secretary or from any member of the committee, which is headed by M. E. Hazelton.

"Up County Night" will be held by the group next Tuesday night under the direction of James F. Hoev. One of the featured artists on the program will be Al Rihn, a magician.

Dr. C. Walter Cole presided last night.

WIDOW WILL GET LARGE FORTUNE

The American Trust company lost its fight in the superior court to gain control and administer the $150,000 estate of the late Leo Persico.

Judge A. B. McKenzie late yesterday afternoon decided that the three wills were invalid.

As a result of the ruling Mrs. Maude Persico will file a petition for letters of administration on the estate. Under the law it would be equally divided between her and her daughter.

Judge McKenzie's ruling followed a day of hearing of the action filed by the American Trust company of Richmond, which was named by Persico in a will drawn up on Aug. 25, 1928 as executor of his estate.

In contesting the action, Mrs. Persico maintained that the 1928 will was invalidated by other wills drawn up at a later date by Persico.

In his decision, Judge McKenzie ruled that the will making the trust company executor for the estate was invalidated by a will drawn up on April 3, 1929. This will was in turn invalidated by another drawn up on May 24, 1929. And the last will was declared invalidated because it had not been properly drawn up and signed according to law.

If the Trust company had won its battle, a trust fund would have been created and Mrs. Persico would receive $100 per month. A sum of $10,000 would be bequeathed to the St. Mark's Catholic church and a similar sum would have been bequeathed to the Wesley Methodist church. The Richmond post of the American Legion would have received a sum of $5000. A sum of $4000 was also bequeathed to Mrs. Alama Snell, of Oakland, Persico's first wife.

Shortly before his death, Persico indicated that he would make these bequests. Mrs. Persico would not state last night whether she will honor the bequests listed in the first will.

Persico killed himself Aug. 25, 1929, after he had received a number of extortion notes sent him by a woman who demanded that she be given $20,000. The woman was later sent to San Quentin prison.

Mrs. Persico was represented by Attorney Will S. Robenson.

The American Trust company was represented by Attorney T. H. DeLap.

Better Wages and Working Conditions for Women Make Better Times

FRANCES PERKINS, New York's State Industrial Commissioner and one of the most intelligent women in public office, has just done her sex a service by emphasizing that a better deal for women workers means better times for everybody. Not pure philanthropy but pure self-interest, Miss Perkins wisely points out, should induce employers—especially at a time when business depression threatens—to keep women on the pay-roll and to increase the contents of women's pay envelopes.

The buying power of working women, a group now comprising one-quarter of the Nation's feminine population, is an economic fact to be stressed, according to the State Industrial Commissioner. If what she calls the parasite industries would pay women a living wage, instead of one so small that the deficit has to be made up by family or by philanthropic institution, women would buy more commodities. The shopping sex is female, anyhow; it is estimated that from eighty to ninety per cent. of all buying is done by women. They would buy still more if they had more money with which to buy!

The chances are that they would save more too. Small-salaried women are one of banking's greatest problems, according to Miss Mina M. Bruere, of the American Bankers Association. Because the amount which the underpaid working girl can save is so small, a service charge is usually levied on her account by banks—and she is thus discouraged at the start.

MISS PERKINS is not the only authority on labor conditions to call attention at this moment to the underpayment of women. Failure of the five-and-ten-cent stores "to pay many of their girl employees wages sufficient to procure the necessities of life" is stressed in a report just made public by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor.

Twelve dollars a week, as the Bureau says, can scarcely be called a living wage in this day of high costs, but $12 was found to be the median—or middle point—of the earnings, for a week, of slightly over 6,000 girls in 179 limited-price stores scattered throughout eighteen States and five additional cities. Only seven per cent. of the girls earned as much as $18, while seventy per cent earned less than $15 and twenty-five per cent. less than $10. In New York City median earnings were $14 a week.

WOMEN workers suffer other injustices. That elementary principle of equal pay for equal work, "though officially recognized, is far from being carried out," warns the Women's Bureau, "and this situation constitutes a grave danger both moral and material for women, and also a serious obstacle to the raising of men's wages, a goal toward which the unions are striving."

Not alone women in industry, but women in business and in the professions have to struggle continually against the tendency to pay women less than men who do no more and no better work. Even in the profession of teaching, where so many women have demonstrated their worth for so many years, the battle is still on; a battle fought with such twisted logic that a distinguished New York educator can urge, in one breath, higher pay for men teachers, while in the next he makes the amazing admission: "They are not better teachers; they do not render more valuable service; even if they have more dependents, that is not a sound argument for paying them higher salaries."

ANOTHER handicap which bears on women even more harshly than on men is the prejudice against the older worker. Miss Perkins outspokenly decries it. Older women, she points out, who have passed their "emotional years," offer a more conscientious devotion to work. Yet older women have to face a steady and discouraging competition of youth, beauty and charm. The deadline is reached by feminine workers at forty, while difficulties in obtaining work are encountered by women not more than thirty years old.

It is almost impossible for a woman who weighs over one hundred and twenty-five pounds and is over thirty years of age to get a job as waitress, according to a recent statement by Sarah Green of the National Waitresses' Union.

Here, too, the handicap operates not only in industry but in professions. The Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor finds, in a recent study, that in the field of home economics, for instance, certain employers and agencies consider women "too old" for employment shortly after the thirty-fourth birthday. There is unfair discrimination against older women in this field as teachers, extension workers and hospital dietitians.

FINALLY, prejudice still persists against the married woman worker. As a conspicuous instance, note the current announcement of the Secretary to the Queens Borough President that in the future single women employed by the borough will be given preference in the matter of raises over married women, other things being equal. It is admitted that, generally speaking, the married women are older and therefore ahead on the list of employees; yet, to their hurt, the ordinary economic practice of giving the "raises" to the employees of longest standing is to be disregarded.

The theory here seems to be the old one that the married woman works for "pin money" and doesn't need her job as much as the single woman needs hers. Yet—once more to quote from the accurate and authoritative records of the Women's Bureau—a cross-sectional tabulation has shown that nine-tenths of married women seeking employment did so because their husbands either made an insufficient amount to support the family, or because the husband had ceased to contribute.

EIGHT and a half million American women now work for wages, but all intelligent and sympathetic women should, we think, be interested in their sex's labor problems. The available information about them is certainly being discussed in many women's clubs to-day, and the members of such clubs are helping to focus public opinion on the necessity of better wages and conditions for women who work.

Raise their buying power, as Frances Perkins says, and the index of national prosperity rises too. Or, in the words of Mary Anderson, Director of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor: "Women employed at jobs in comfortable and hygienic surroundings, with fair pay and a short working day will have more time, money and energy to make better homes and happier families. America will be as strong as her women."

Modernizing the Home—

Small Halls May Be Very Smart

By Alma Zaiss

Dear Miss Zaiss:

The size of the parlor is 11½ feet wide by 15 feet long. In that room I have a mahogany upright piano, a three-piece antique velvet suite (the sofa and arm chair in red and the high chair in green, with a foot stool in green also), a hand-carved silver chest with two-in-one table to match, and a smoking table of black and red marble.

I would like you to arrange the setting of each piece for me. I have about thirty books, but cannot get a bookcase, as it would take up too much space. I intend getting a radio soon. What would you suggest instead of that bookcase? Also, what should be hung on the walls that won't be too expensive?

I am still buying things for my home; such as some carpets, not too expensive, and a console table and mirror for my foyer. Also some pictures for that room.

What would you suggest? I am inclosing a diagram of those two rooms. I am sure you will be able to help me as you have helped others. Thank you very much.

MRS. E. G.

Problem in Arrangement for Foyer and Living Room

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

HOW pleasantly surprised we are to find the small apartment foyer as well-furnished and as inviting as the living rooms of the house. But how infrequent these nice surprises are! The mere sight of a tiny 7x7 foot space cut by five big doorways—as is the foyer of to-day's problem—seems sufficient to so benumb the imagination that not a decorative thought comes to mind. But we should not allow mere architectural features to defeat us. Usually some compromise can be found.

In furnishing the small foyer it is important to see that each piece is right in size. For Mrs. G—— and those who have similar halls, the diagram and illustration suggest correctly scaled appointments that would bring to the small entrance an effect of hospitality and dignity, regardless of limitations.

Two charming hall pieces possessing a great deal of character are shown—the one a type in sympathy with living room furniture that is relatively light in character; the other a very small and shallow Italian credence suggesting a living room scheme of the heavier type which we associate with Italian, Spanish or sixteenth century English furniture. Mrs. G—— mentions a carved silver chest, refectory table and high-back velvet chair—all pieces which imply the latter scheme—and if our guess is correct, the credence will perhaps be the choice for her hall.

To increase the apparent size of the foyer it would be good to use long, narrow panels of unframed mirror glass at either side of the door leading to the living room, and we have indicated before the panels two slender wrought iron pedestals terminating in wrought iron baskets to be filled with trailing ivy. If Mrs. G. does not wish to go to the expense of buying the panel mirrors, she may still use the flower stands in this position, and the effect will be quite pleasing.

Often a composition floor of tiled or marbleized inlaid linoleum having a classic centre design adds a very decorative note to the small hall, and we are inclined to think we should like this treatment for Mrs. G.'s foyer. The large illustration also shows a marbleized treatment for the door frames and baseboards of a small hall in which the wall is faintly patterned in a modern shadow-design. This gives a very good effect, but must be done by a craftsman who understands his work.

To-day's problem also requests an arrangement for the living room, in which we must recommend accessories and place a number of large heavy pieces—an upright piano, a sofa, a live-dine table and two large chairs, among the fine color reproductions of old master paintings and the best work of modern artists. It is the essence of good taste to choose good reproductions when one cannot afford worth-while originals, and the practice is followed by many of our leading decorators. Avoid imitation tapestries, banners, and pretentious wall hangings; use instead such decorative features as a gracious hanging shelf, mirrors, good color reproductions or etchings, and the four walls of your rooms will never grow tiresome or oppressive. This seems to complete the problem for Mrs. G's home.

PLACING SIDE LIGHTS

Mrs. M. W. W. asks: "Please tell me what the correct position for side lights would be in a room where they can only be installed on one wall. This side is cut in centre by a door. Two other walls are cut with French doors and windows, and cannot put the lights on inside wall because it adjoins another house."

Why put sidelights in the room? They are not so decorative—nor so flattering—as the light given by floor or table lamps, and, in addition, they practically ruin the space that should be devoted to pictures. We should prefer to see base plugs installed and provision made for table lamps near comfortable chairs or the sofa. And remember, for reading, sewing, writing or close work nothing equals the well-directed beam of a floor lamp.

AN ARMCHAIR FROM A ROCKER?

MRS. J. C. writes: Would like to know if I could make an armchair from an old rocker. It has a nice high back. If I took off the two curved parts from the bottom, would the chair be spoiled?

It all depends on the type and pitch of your rocker. Often a successful armchair can be made by removing the rockers and slightly shortening the back legs of the chair. To experiment, after removing the rocker bars, place small pieces of wood beneath the front legs, raising them from the floor until the desired pitch is obtained. By measuring the depth of the loose wood blocks you will see just how much should be sawed off the back legs to give you the same effect.

The Beauty Shop

Dry Cleaning Hair

THE week is young and the Beauty Shop already has four requests for dry shampoos. There may be twenty-four such requests by the end of the week or a hundred and four, unexpressed.

Of course the simplest and most thorough method of dry cleaning the hair is to brush it well twice a day. Strange as it may appear though, not every one regards the hairbrush as a cleanser. Most people look upon it as an instrument for adding finishing touches to the coiffure, or a great help in unraveling stubborn tangles.

Hair that is given a twice-daily brushing, faithfully, with a firm bristled brush—whether the hair be dry or oily or normal—is literally fourteen times cleaner, healthier and more attractive than hair that is merely combed and washed. Brushing is the dry shampoo par excellence—and we'd love to shout it from the housetops.

Occasionally, meaning weekly for oily hair and fortnightly for dry hair, the brushing might well be supplemented by the use of the usual dry shampoo in powder form, either corn meal, orris root or a good trade preparation. Many people with oily hair prefer a dry shampoo with eau de cologne. Whichever you happen to choose, the technique remains the same. It goes as follows:

The hair is parted in the middle, from the forehead to the nape of the neck. Into the part rub a little orris root, corn meal, eau de cologne or specially prepared mixture. Now make another part at right angles to the first one; in other words, from ear to ear across the top of the head. Once again rub in the dry shampoo preparation. Repeat the process, making fresh parts until the whole scalp is pretty well covered.

After an interval of half an hour or more, during which the dry shampoo is left on the scalp, get to work with the nice clean, thoroughly sunned brush. Then brush, brush, brush, taking one strand of hair at a time until the crop gleams with cleanliness.

From time to time it is objected that dry shampoos of the cornmeal-orris variety are difficult to remove from the hair. Not if they are sparingly and carefully applied and afterward thoroughly brushed and fine-tooth-combed away! The "secret" is in keeping the shampoo close to the scalp instead of powdering it all over the hair, then in combing it away with the above-mentioned fine-tooth comb, and after that brushing until there isn't a trace of "dust" to be seen on the hair.

By the way, the periodic use of a fine-tooth comb is wonderfully cleansing and wonderfully taming to the hair. Instantly it imparts to the hair a look of softness and fineness and it is a tremendous help in achieving the successful coiffure.

Treating Linoleum

One coat of a good grade waterproof varnish applied every six months will do wonders for your printed linoleum.

Waxing will do the same for battleship or inlaid linoleums. Apply the wax with a weighted brush and allow it to dry well before walking on it.

TELLING THE WORLD

By Neal O'Hara

(Covering the London Naval Conference with his trusty pencil and eraser is J. Herman Seidlitz. Mr. Seidlitz needs no introduction to the public as a naval expert. When the Battle of Jutland was fought, he was Rear Admiral of the Staten Island Ferry. In 1921 he was Chief of Operations at the Norfolk Naval Hospital. From 1922 to 1925 he attended the Naval War College by mail and was graduated as third class matter. The height of Seidlitz's naval career, however, was when he boxed the compass on the battleship Texas, winning the decision in twenty rounds. In his spare time Mr. Seidlitz is a wholesale lighthouse salesman, covering the rich Montana-Wyoming territory. And this is the man who interprets each move of the naval parley for our readers. Each evening he summarizes the day's doings, translates them into a cipher code and cables it to this office.. The ciphers are then decoded and from these zeros a Seidlitz despatch is born. The following is the fifth article from J. Herman Seidlitz's fountain pen and we hope it is non-refillable.)

INTERPRETING THE NAVAL PARLEY

By J. Herman Seidlitz

LONDON, Feb. 7 (By dogsled to Newfoundland)—The delegates of all nations are pretty much discouraged. All the news of the naval parley is on the inside pages of the local papers except the London Times, which prints the big news in the middle of the paper. In the London Times the parley news is on the outside pages and in danger of slipping off

When Peggy Joyce's appendix got more space in the American press than the ten armored cruisers we agreed to sink, our Yankee envoys got nausea. The only things that prevented them from packing their trunks and sailing home were the gales on the Atlantic Ocean.

The conference has now been going on for two weeks and the principal results are that King George made a radio speech and Lady Astor gave a week-end tea. King George's ringing words waked America up—at 6 A. M., to be exact—but the latest advices are that America went right back to bed again.

Lady Astor pulled off a tea and invited the American delegates and George Bernard Shaw down to sip some oolong. I got in on a fireman's badge and hid in Shaw's whiskers. The repartee was fast and furious.

Lady Astor said to Bernard Shaw, "Cut yourself a piece of cake."

Shaw came back quick as a flash and said, "I will take a 50 per cent. cut and all the syndicate rights."

"Peggy Joyce just had her appendix cut out," offered Lady Astor.

"Who is Peggy Joyce?" asked George Bernard Shaw.

"She is an American cowboy," said Will Rogers, "except her rope is made of pearls."

"No," interrupted Lady Astor, "Peggy Joyce is the most beautiful woman in America—since I left."

Dwight Morrow started to say something, but Lady Astor cut him off with marmalade and toast.

"Beastly weather we're having," contributed Bernard Shaw.

"You said it," said Lady Astor, "and so is your old man."

"Is zat so?" said Shaw.

"Oh, by the way, Mr. Shaw," said Lady Astor, still rippling with repartee, "are you a Baptist or a Presbyterian?"

"I am a vegetarian," said Bernard Shaw, amid a gale of laughter.

Dwight Morrow tried to put in a word, but Shaw cut him off with two lumps in his tea.

"Do you use tobacco?" Lady Astor asked Shaw.

"I smoke cigars," said Shaw, "but I don't chew cut plug."

"How fortunate," said Lady Astor, pointing to Shaw's flowing white whiskers.

At this point Dwight Morrow decided to run for the United States Senate where he'd get a chance to say something now and then.

A DISH A DAY

In cookery, the term mousse has a double meaning. Originally, froth or foam, it has come to designate a delicate, smooth mixture made with whipped cream. The mousse may be a frozen dessert, or it may be a glorified moulded becomes a company dish that, either as salad or dessert, graces any party table.

With three major holidays scheduled for February, suggestions for salad.

Mousse, whether tised for a salad or a dessert, always indicates that whipped cream is a prominent ingredient. By virtue of this fact, mousse bridge luncheons are quite in order. The dainty mousse colored to meet the demands of the holiday tempts the most fastidious; its preparation requires a little culinary adeptness.

TUNA MOUSSE

Yolks of three eggs
One-fourth teaspoon salt
One-fourth teaspoon paprika
One cup hot bouillon (canned)
One tablespoon gelatin
Two tablespoons cold water
One cup flaked white tuna
One-half cup almonds, powdered
A dash of cayenne
One cup of cream, whipped

Moulding time: two to three hours in refrigerator

Servings: eight to ten.

Minced chicked may be substituted for the tuna and a delicate chicken mousse reward the culinary artist. The almonds may be omitted.

Beat the egg yolks slightly and blend with the salt and paprika. Carefully pour the hot bouillon over the egg mixture and turn into the double boiler top. Cook gently until the mixture coats a metal spoon, or from six to eight minutes.

Meanwhile soak the gelatin in the cold water—for a stiffer mousse the gelatin may be increased to two tablespoons. Whe nthe custard is done take from the fire and stir in the softened gelatin. Then cool a little and add the flaked tuna and the almonds pounded to a powder.

Set the double boiler top in cold water and gently stir the mixture until it becomes cold and starts to stiffen. Then fold in the cup of cream whipped until stiff. Turn into individual or one loaf or border mould and set in the refrigerator to harden. The time varies from two to three hours, depending upon the temperature.

At servin gtime unmould the mousse upon a chilled bed of lettuce or watercress and garnish with daintily colored cream mayonnaise. Tiny bread and butter sandwiches, wholewheat and white, accompany the salad.

COLONIAL TEA PRESENTED BY CHURCH GROUP

A representative group of more than 100 churchwomen from Richmond and other cities in the bay region gathered at the First Baptist church social hall yesterday to enjoy the Colonial Tea staged by Circle No. 1 of the Baptist Ladies' Aid society.

The social hall was prettily decorated with spring flowers. Tea and cake were served by the women of the circle. They were dressed in Colonial costume.

The tea opened with the singing of the circle song by Mrs. K. B. Wallace and Mrs. O. E. Estes. During the song the women filed into the social hall and took up the song.

Mrs. Zelda Chapin, Mrs. Violet Williams, Mrs. Paul Dunlap entertained with old-fashioned songs. The soloists were dressed in costume. Little Harold Feiciano presented accordian selections.

Mrs. M. H. Salisbury was general chairman of the tea, while Mrs. I. McGuffin had charge of the program.

The event was voted one of the most successful held at the church.

FINISHED CAST APPEARING IN 13TH CHAIR

Choice of Leila Hyams for the role of 'Nellie O'Neil' completes one of the most interesting casts ever assembled at the studios for Metro Goldwyn Mayer's filmization of "The Thirteenth Chair" Tod Browning's all talking adaptation of the famous stage mystery drama which opens tomorrow for two days at the Fox-California theater.

Margaret Wycherly, brought from New York for the picture plays Rosalie La Grande,' the role she created on the stage and Bela Lugosi, famous for his delineation of the vampire hero of "Dracula" on the stage, played the inspector of Indian police secret service operatives, who solves the uncanny mystery.

Others in the cast include Holmes Herbert, who recently scored as 'Noel' in "Madame X" Cyril Chadwick, famous for his work in "The Actress," Helene Millard, well known stage actress, F. Leight screen character player, Mary Forbes, distinguished British stage actress and mother of Ralph Forbes, John Davidson, of "Rescue" and "His Childrens' Children" and Joel McCrea, new MGM discovery.

Clarence Geldert, who scored as 'Lewis' in Lionel Barrymore's production "The Green Ghost" will play "Constance Grimshaw."

The new picture is an uncanny murder mystery drama with a spooky seance denouement, written by Bayard Veiller. It is Browning's bow as a director of talking pictures, and the screen adaptation is by himself and Elliott Clawson, his scenarist in "Where East Is East," "The Road to Mandalay" and others of his directorial successes.

Also on this bill is a Charlie Chase comedy "Stepping Out."

'Sunny Side Up' Features Six Catchy Songs

No less than six sensational song hits make up the melodic texture of "Sunny Side Up," Fox Movietone musical comedy, now current at the Fox-California theater.

"Sunny Side Up" is an original musical comedy written by Buddy DeSylva, Lew Brown and Ray Henderson, Broadway's popular song writers.

They provided six of the best numbers they have ever written for this entertaining production which serves to introduce Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell as musical comedy stars.

Sales of the songs totalling well into the millions is indicated by their popularity with audiences all over the country. The song hits are "Sunny Side Up," "If I Had a Talking Picture of You," "You've Got Me Pickin' Petals Off of Daisies," "Turn on the Heat," "You Find the Time, I'll Find the Place," "It's Great to be Necked," and "I'm a Dreamer, Aren't We All?"

David Butler directed "Sunny Side Up" and Seymour Felix, celebrated dance director, staged the ensembles and song numbers. There is a chorus of 100 dancing and singing beauties. The supporting cast is headed by El Brendel, Sharon Lynn, Frank Richardson and Marjorie White.

High Cagers To Close Season In Short Time

The Richmond Union high school varsity and B cage teams will offer opposition to the fast University of California 140 and 130 pounders this afternoon in the Richmond Union high school gymnasium.

Coming with a university reputation behind it, the California lightweight squad will be a pretty hard nut for the local high school athletes to crack.

The Richmond varsity has had a rather doubtful season, with several victories alternating with defeats. The Ys have had a slightly more successful season on the waxed floor. The lightweights have lost only two contests.

This is the last week of active basketball competition at Richmond Union high school. The high school athletes are decided to conclude the season with a goodly number of contests. Their last game of the year will be played against the Richmond Union high school alumni varsity and B's Friday night in the high school gymnasium. There will also be a contest between the high school girls and the alumni girl athletes.

The B game on Friday night's card will start at 7 o'clock, and will be followed at 8 o'clock by the girls' game. The varsity contest will begin at 9 o'clock.

On today's schedule, the B game will commence at 3:30 o'clock and the varsity game will follow at 4:30.

School Girls To Enjoy Free Swim

Richmond school girls will for the first time this year enjoy a free swim in the Richmond natatorium this afternoon. Tomorrow will be free day for boys.

Only pupils attending Richmond schools will be admitted to these swims, which will be conducted throughout the year.

Thousands of children have benefited by these free swims since the natatorium first opened.

HOOVER URGES TARIFF BILL PASSAGE

Senate to act fast on the tariff.

Democrats and Republicans went to work at once in both houses. Speaker Longworth announced a compromise on the flexible tariff controersy, which he hopes to have accepted to expedite the bill. This is the Davenport plan which would reain the present law but allow Congress to veto changes made by the president on recommendation of the tariff commission. The House tariff bill increased the president's power to adjust rates, but the Senate adopted an amendment depriving him of all this power. Longworth added that this session will not pass much except the tariff, appropriation, and prohibition transfer bills. This will leave most of the Hoover program unfinished.

Charges Hurled

The Democrats went to work to lay the blame for the legislative tangle at the White House doorstep. Rep. Byrns, Tenn., Democratice congressional committee head, said unemployment was wide spread and Hoover was responsible because he failed to stop it. Democratic Floor Leader Garner, Texas, charged that Hoover has not told Republican leaders what he wants.

"The titular party leader in the White House is either lacking in courage or the capacity to lead," Garner said. "Mr. Hoover's three secretaries have made a bad situation worse," he added, and the House and Senate leaders are "at sea and in a mood to surrender in disgust."

Caustic Criticism

Senator Harrison, Dem., Miss gibed the president in the Senate, dangled before the administration the possibility that Calvin Coolidge on his western trip is building fences for a presidential race against Hoover, and then sided with Rep. Tilson in causing criticism of the regular Republican's silence in the Hughes debate.

The Senate did not noticeably speed up on the tariff. It raised the duty on zinc and refused to levy a 30 percent duty on silver, which is now duty-free.

Senator Borah, Repn., Idaho, replying to the implied White House criticism on the tariff, said a good bill was more important than saving time.

Goitre Not A Disease
MILWAUKEE DOCTOR MAKES REMARKABLE DISCOVERY
Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. E-52, Box 787, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the county with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. GAS STORAGE LAW WILL BE ENFORCED

Warning was sounded yesterday by city officials that the new ordinance regulating the storage of gasoline and other inflammable liquids in dwellings would be strictly enforced. With the exception of gasoline which may be in the tank of a vehicle, it is unlawful to keep more than one gallon about a residence according to the law which was adopted at a session of the city council Monday night.

The ordinance in general regulates the keeping, storage and use of petroleum, petroleum products and other inflammable liquids in the city of Richmond.

To keep more than a gallon, it is necessary to obtain a permit from the fire marshal.

In the application for the permit the location of the premises on which it is proposed to store gasoline or other inflammable liquids the total quantity to be stored and the purpose of such storage, must be stated.

Tank Storage

If it is a case of tank storage detailed drawings must be submitted with the application. These drawings must show the location of buildings on the premises, the location and size of tanks and pipes the distance of tanks from buildings and the location, size and make of pumps.

Regulations for the storage of gasoline for sale in any place of business other than garages or service stations have been stated in the ordinance.

The regulations declare that not more than five gallons of gasoline shall be kept in bulk at any one time, and it shall be kept in an approved container. Anyone selling gasoline in bulk shall deliver it in an approved container which must be labeled with red letters showing the name of the liquid and the warning—"Dangerous, Keep Away From Fire".

Portable Tanks

Regulations covering the storage of gasoline for sale in garages and service stations are also covered. Owners of such establishments are allowed to keep one gallon container and a portable filling tank which must not exceed 50 gallons capacity, inside the garage or service station.

All other gasoline stored at garages or service stations, must be stored in underground tanks.

In shops and residences no gas in excess of five gallons will be allowed for mechanical uses on any one floor of any building. This must be kept in an approved container. In apartments or flats, the amount of inflammable liquids is limited to one quart, and this must be labeled as directed.

Cleaning Works

Dry cleaning works will follow the requirements of the state law regulating such establishments.

Any merchant in the city may keep in his establishment in cans or barrels, petroleum products not exceeding a total amount of 750 gallons, if, in the opinion of the fire marshal it is deemed safe. The exception to this rule is in regards to kerosene. The total amount of kerosene must be limited to 100 gallons.

In the ordinance it is deemed unlawful to install or maintain in any premises, any gasoline or compressed gas system which does not bear the label of the Underwriters laboratories. A permit must also be obtained.

None of the provisions of the ordinance apply to the business of manufacturing, refining or distilling petroleum products.

Violation of this ordinance has been deemed a misdemeanor, and is punishable by a fine or a prison sentence, or both.

The ordinance will go into effect Mar. 17.

TRAFFIC COURT CONDUCTED BY ALSTROM

Traffic ccurt was held in the ccurt of Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Alstrom yesterday. As a result, a number of motorists were fined for violation of state traffic regulations and a number of warrants were issued for the arrest of those who failed to appear in answer to citations.

A warrant for the arrest of G. B. Van Buren, of 1617 Brooklyn avenue, Oakland, was issued. Van Buren was arrested on Dec. 31 and charged with speeding. He was fined $30 and was given until Feb. 1 to pay it. He failed to appear in court and as a result, the warrant was issued.

N. Sato, of Carneros, Napa county, is being sought on a warrant on a charge of failing to appear in court in answer to a citation for speeding and driving without an operator's license.

Henry McGraw, of Vallejo, who is alleged to have failed to appear in court on a charge of driving with 1928 license plates and without operator's license, is being sought on a warrant.

Harry Criess, of Martinez, was fined $250 on a charge of reckless driving reduced from driving while drunk. In lieu of the fine Criess was taken to the county jail where he will serve one day for each dollar of the fine.

Thomas Osborn, of Fort Bragg, was fined $100 on a charge of reckless driving. He was originally charged with driving while drunk but the district attorneys office recommended that the charges be reduced. Osborn pleaded guilty.

Mrs. J. A. Burg, of Berkeley, was fined $5 on a charge of driving without an operator's license and no auto licenses.

H. H. Smith of Oakland, pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding and was fined $10.

Sam DeMoth, of Berkeley, was fined $10 on a charge of driving a truck without a license.

E. Hansen, of Crockett, paid a $5 fine on a charge of driving without a muffler.

The arrests were made by State Traffic Officers Lester Eaton and Charles Nissen.

Warm guests--

when there is heat at a finger's touch

During a social evening, does some member of your family interrupt the party to fuss with the furnace?

With gas fuel burning in your furnace, a thermostat or a push-button regulates the temperature. No annoying trips to the basement. No bother about starting a fire when friends come — a finger's touch gives you instant heat. And any healthful temperature is maintained throughout your home.

With clean gas fuel, the curtains, wall-paper and furniture retain their fresh cleanliness. There is no smoke or soot about your property.

Even though you have no basement, there are fine types of gas-fired heating equipment for your home.

A MOUNTAIN OF LUMBER!

Richmond boosters in the progress of their city should go to the inner harbor and view the huge piles of lumber just delivered there.

This lumber is going into the new Filice and Perrelli cannery on the inner harbor between Tenth and Fourteenth streets, and is but a small portion of great mass of material that will go into this new plant.

The lumber should make a big eyeful for Richmondites, particularly if they use their imagination and visualize the great industrial development of which it is the forerunner. The cannery will mean an expenditure of $350,000, which will keep many Richmond workmen busy during the next two months. When it is complete more than 700 persons will find employment there during the greater part of every year.

Those employees will spend their money in Richmond. Then the products from this cannery and from two other plants of the same corporation will flow out to the world over the Parr-Richmond Terminal, another source of profit to Richmond.

This is but the beginning. Definite announcement has been made from Detroit that the Ford plant is coming. Other industries will be attracted.

Visit the inner harbor and see for yourself the things that are ACTUALLY HAPPENING.

FIRST CHRISTIANS WIN Y.M.C.A. CHURCH CAGE TITLE

SAN PABLO FIVE LOSES FINAL CONTEST

The championship of the Y. M. C. A. Church league last night went to the First Christians, who defeated the San Pablo Baptists by a score of 26 to 6 in the final contest of the league.

In spite of the large final lead held by the league winners last night, a stubborn, plucky fight was waged by the San Pablo titlists of the B division of the league.

Everything seemed to be in favor of the Christians. They sank shots from most every part of the floor. They consistently outjumped the diminutive San Pablans, giving them the start on every play. Fred DeCorten's shooting for San Pablo, which was the main factor in San Pablo's 23 to 15 victory over the Christians last week, was unable to garner a single point for his team last night. The Christians realized that he was a dangerous player, and consequently kept him completely covered.

The San Pablans were almost kept in their own territory by the strong offensive of the league-winning Christian cagers.

The Christians maintained a large lead throughout the contest. They were leading 6 to 2 by the end of the first quarter. They were on the heavy end of a 10 to 5 score at half time. The winners made a fatal attack on the San Pablo basket in the third canto, thereby bringing the score to 16 to 5. The Christians maintained their fast pace till the final whistle.

The three games in the final play-off for the church league title have been hectic contests. In the first contest, the Christians were victorious over the San Pablo Baptists by a score of 15 to 14. The Baptists then came back in the second game to defeat the Christians 23 to 15. Nothing could stop the San Pablo boys in the second game. But the Christians learned a lesson by their defeat, and utterly bewildered the San Pablo boys last night.

Gold basketballs will be presented to the First Christian titlists at a banquet to be held soon at the Y. M. C. A. building.

The lineup of the First Christian cagers last night was as follows: Brown (7), Santaella (10), forwards; Moore (2), center; Livermore (1), Abbott, guards; substitutes, Gillan (2), forward; Johnson (4), center.

The San Pablo Baptists who played against the Christians were Moitoza, C. Cervenka (6), forwards; Vierra, center; DeCorten, Nevis, guards; substitutes, Dorney, forward; G. Cervenka, center.

RULES TOLD FOR TENNIS CLUB TOURNEY

Rules for the Richmond tennis club "round robin" tournament being held on the city hall courts have been announced by W. L. Seawright, president of the association. The tournament commenced Sunday, with Clare Bryant climbing to the top rank.

The rules for the tourney are as follows:

1. To be conducted similar to a regular tournament.

2. Non-appearance on court (regardless of excuse) will be considered a default.

3. Default effective one hour after time set by two players to meet.

4. Any match which is incomplete for reasons out of players' control, such as rain or darkness, must be played over from the start. The match will be rescheduled.

5. Any player is eligible to challenge one or two positions above his ranking. If the one challenged is defeated by the challenger they will exchange places on the ladder.

6. Player may be asked to play only one match of singles and one match of doubles in one day. He shall be complete if challenged to play two matches of singles in eight days. (No two single matches in a day unless agred upon by players who play). If players cannot come to an agreement to play within eight days after challenge is placed, the challenge is automatically withdrawn, provided that each player has set a reasonable time to play which the other cannot meet.

7. A player has eight days to meet and play a challenge match.

8. Eight days after a challenged match has been played, the defeated player (singles or doubles) can challenge above if he has not already been challenged from below in that time.

9. Challenger must notify committee before playing for a position (No challenge considered in order otherwise).

10. Ranking play effective thru entire year—from first of February to last of October.

11. No ranking play for first eight players on days of outside club tournaments.

12. Ranking players who for some time have not been in active play shall be given a ranking by the Round Robin committee upon return to active play. New members to be ranked in same manner.

No. 13. No player is entitled to play for ranking or inter-club unless dues are paid for the year.

Imported Bird Net Destroyed

MARTINEZ, Feb. 18—I. Hasegawa, Japanese farmer of Alhambra valley, is mystified, and also, is minus one imported Japanese silk bird net.

Greatly elated over the arrival of the net from Japan this morning, Hasegawa had hardly unpacked it when Game Warden T. K. Duncan appeared on the scene and demanded the surrender of the importation.

When informed that the agent knew he had the net in his posession, Hasegawa was not a little chagrined, but was even more mystified when all the information he could obtain from the game warden was to the effect that he was instructed by the San Francisco office to confiscate the net. Possession of the net is against California law.

The Japanese said he had intended to trap sparrows.

MRS. RADKE OUT OF TENNIS TOURNEY

Mrs. Jimmie Radke, ranked as one of the best players on the local courts, was eliminated from the Richmond Tennis association tournament in its first round yesterday by Edith Kershaw. The scores of the contest were 2-6, 6-0, and 7-5.

The elimination of Mrs. Radke from the tournament came as a great surprise to the local tennis circles, as she has continually held a very high position in the Richmond Tennis club ratings.

The tournament is being held for the purpose of ranking the women players of Richmond. The six players ranking highest in the tourney will compose the Richmond Tennis club team in the state women's inter-club tennis league. The first inter-club match in which the Richmond women tennis players will participate will be held March 23, with Stockton on the local courts.

The other members of the league are Alameda, San Jose, Oakland and Modesto.

The second match of the local women's tournament will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Evelyn Neville and Teresa Bernardi will meet on the city hall courts.

Dorothy Miller will meet Zara Truitt Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, while Gladys Kruger and Helen Dunning will compete at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Julia Desmond will meet Jenny Stark Monday afternoon at 12 o'clock.

There are several other matches to be played in the women's tournament, but for which no date has yet been set. These games will be played as follows: Vivienne Peterson vs. Reitha McDonald; Pauline Remell vs. Eleanor Hesbel; Sylvia Seawright vs. Hazel Olsen and Bena Sales vs. Grace Westman. Mary Gately will play the winner of the match between Dorothy Miller and Zara Truitt.

Mrs. A. S. Remell is directing the women's tournament.

Many Elks To Compete For Golf Honors

More than 50 local golfers will play in the annual golf tourney between the Richmond and Berkeley Elks March 1 at the Carquinez links.

Arrangements for Richmond's participation in the golf meet are in the hands of Judge A. A. Alstrom, while E. G. Linscott is directing arrangements at Berkeley.

Prizes will be awarded for low gross and low net scores. A consolation prize will also be presented.

On the night of the tournament a dinner will be held in the Carquinez clubhouse at 6:15 o'clock.

The Richmond Elks who have already signed to participate in the tourney are:

Dr. A. B. Hinkley, S. B. Merry C. V. Mero, M. E. Hazelton, Russell Meyer, A. A A'strom, Dr U. S. Abbott, I. R. Vaughn, F. A. Mero, Phil Harlow, Dr. C. W. Cole Pat MacDonouguh, Roy K. Dorr Roy Eakle, J. O. Ford, H. M. Flint, T. A. Duggan, H. C. Brombacher, Phil Jones, W. L. Ballenger, R. H. Stratton, George Thornton, Leo Marcollo, W. E. Lewis.

A. P. Hill, J. E. Durand, Frank Phelps, Chris Arneson, R. S. Crose John Moore, Press Nevil'e, F. N. Gordon, M. A. Hays, E. M. Downer, H. E. Cline, H. H. Mylander, H. E. Jacobs, C S Renwick, H. A. WELTERS AWAIT SELECTION OF REFEREE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Jackie Fields and Young Corbett III are in the final stages of their training siege for their ten-round match at Recreation ball park next Saturday afternoon and both are beginning to show the effects of the heavy conditioning exercises they have been going thru.

Fields, the welterweight champion, took Saturday and Monday off, feeling that his condition is well-night perfect and he does not care to take any chances of overtraining.

Corbett has been busy as a bee at his South City training quarters, and boxes several rounds daily with his sparring mates, Al Garcio, Sammy Offerman, Joe Conde and Chick Devlin. The Fresno southpaw looks great.

The question of who will be the referee was brought up yesterday, but no one was selected by Boxing Commissioner Charley Traung. It will, however, be either Jim Griffin or Toby Irwin, both of whom are acceptable by the managers of the fighters.

Promoter Ancil Hoffman's preliminary card follows:

"Chick" Devlin vs. Herman Ratzloff, six rounds. This match will be fought after the main event.

"Red" Uhlan vs. Frankie Denny, four rounds.

Barney Ross vs. Jiro Kumagai, four rounds.

"Red" McDonald vs. Millio Miletti, four rounds.

Charley Mahoney vs. Bobby Vincent, four rounds.

Louie O'Neill vs. "Indian" Nance four rounds.

Yield Cagers Beat Figure Experts Of S. O.

The Yield department registered a 19 to 17 deefat over the accounting department in the Standard Oil department cage league last night at the Longfielow gymnasium.

The final result was exceedingly doubtful until the last whistle. Both quintets played a fast brand of basketball, and it was anybodys game during the entire four quarters.

The lineup of the Yield department last night was as follows: Gillard 8, Bramstedt 2, forwards; Snelling, center; Remell 2, Spencer 7, guards; substitute, Brooks, guard.

The accounting department lineup included: Johnson 2, Michell 4, forwards; Damon 4, center; Marchant, Armstrong 4, guards, substitutes — Murdock 3, forwards; Brien, center.

Y MEMBERS IN CALIFORNIAD PLANS

Plans are progressing rapidly for the participation of the Richmond Y. M. C. A. in Californiad competition in volleyball, debating, posters and essays.

Richmond will go to San Jose Mar. 8 to take part in the volleyball tournament there. The local volleyball team is now being formed.

Members of the local Boys' Hi-Y are busy making posters and writing essays all on the subject of thirft for entrance in the Californiad competition. All essays and posters must be completed by Mar. 8.

Members of the Richmond Hi-Y will take part in a debate on the question, "Resolved: That Military Training Be Abolished in High Schools."

The local Y. M. D. will also enter contestants in a debate on the subject, "The Employment of Women as a Menace to Social Welfare." The debaters to represent both local clubs have not yet been chosen.

All Star Cagers To Play Martinez Five Here Tonight

The Richmond All-Star 145 pound quintet will engage the Martinez athletes tonight in a contest to be played at the Richmond Union high school gymnasium.

The local lightweights have been sending fast and powerful teams into the discard during their post-season competition. They ought to be able to control the Martinez athletes tonight, for they conquered the boys from the county seat by a score of 24 to 9 two weeks ago.

Both the Garfinkle All-Stars and the Richmond lightweights will travel to San Mateo tomorrow night to tangle with the two San Mateo All-Star aggregations.

Tonight's contest will start at 8 o'clock.

Junior High Contests To Open Today

Athletic competition between the Roosevelt and Longfellow Junior high schools will start today when the cagers of the two schools go into action.

The varsity and 115 pound basketball contests will be held in the Roosevelt gym immediately after school hours. The 105 and 95 pound squads of the two schools will clash at the same time in the Longfellow gym.

These basketball contest are starting a long schedule of athletic competition to be held this year between the rival junior high schools. The junior high athletes will compete in baseball, tennis and swimming later in the year.

WE Repeat Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

. . . the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency . . . join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

The man who spits in public places is no worse an offender against public decency than the workman who rolls cigars with dirty fingers and tips the ends with spit.

Why punish the one and yet tolerate the filthy practice of the other? Smoke a cigar made in the most modern, spotless clean manner . . . Certified Cremo. Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods developed by the United States Government during the war. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the possibility of spit!

Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar your physician has in mind when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands.

Crush-proof . . . immaculate . . . foil-wrapped . . . Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly had in mind when he said, "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

Liver, Gall Bladder and Stomach Trouble Relieved

2946 Morgan Ave.
Oakland, Cal.
Nov. 19, 1929.
THE FONG WAN HERB CO.
Dear Mr. Fong—I am writing this letter to express my gratitude for the splendid results and benefits I have received from the use of the Chinese Herbs prepared by you.

I had a complication of Liver, Gall-Bladder and Stomach Trouble with sharp, stabbing pains in the lower right side of my Abdomen. The region of the Liver was exceedingly sore and tender; so much so that even loose clothing became irritating and uncomfortable. My Stomach was also very sore to the touch and felt as if there were a lump the size of an egg in it. After meals, food which was very sour and burned the throat, was returned to the mouth.

FONG WAN
Eminently Successful Herbalist

This condition steadily became worse over a period of a year. During this time, I was treated by two doctors without any appreciable results. Both decided that an operation was necessary.

By good fortune, I came into contact with a man whom you had treated successfully for an Ulcerated Stomach, and he strongly urged me to take your treatment. This I did.

Results were noticeable the very first week, and now, after six weeks, I am entirely free from the terrible stabbing pains and the soreness over my Liver. My digestion is good. The old feeling of lassitude has completely disappeared and I feel much brighter and more energetic than I have for years.

I am most happy to strongly recommend the herbs of the Fong Wan Herb Co. as prepared by you.

Wishing you unbounded success, and again thanking you for what you have done for me, I am
Very cordially yours,
CYRIL MAW.

UPON RECEIPT OF POSTAGE WE WILL MAIL YOU A BOOK ON HERBS. (10c within the first zone or 15c for more distant zones.)

The GREEN GODDESS
by LOUISE JORDAN MILN

Copyright, 1922, by Frederick A. Stokes Company

"The Green Goddess," starring George Arliss, is a Warner Bros. Vitaphone picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Jessica Crespin has been living in India with her husband, Major Anthony Crespin, for four or five years. She has not found life very interesting in Simmee, where the Major's regiment was stationed, and is glad when it is ordered to Dehra Dun, a less narrowed and service-bound station. She meets civilians there, among them Dr. Basil Traherne, an old schoolfellow of her husband's. He and Lucilla find themselves congenial and she often goes flying in his airplane. The Major is glad to have her do so, for his drinking and infidelity has caused a wide rift between them.

It was all up with Major Crespin now. He'd have to send in his papers this time. Every man in the regiment knew it, every native regimental servant. Such news is no laggard in India; it flies faster than kites.

It was this:

At mess the night before Major Crespin had befouled and disgraced the regiment. And it had been guest night. A bishop from Bangalore, a general (almost a commander-in-chief) from the Madras Presidency, and—a thousand times worse, more bitter—an American officer of high rank, and Dr. Traherne had been the guests.

Crespin had drunk too much. He had spilled claret, and he had offered the Bishop a warm letter of personal introduction to the shameless premiere danseuse of a French company crowding a Calcutta theater just then. He had made—to the American—an unpardonable remark about Lee and Grant. It was all covered up, or attempted to be. The affronted guests all were not only gentlemen but jolly good fellows, and two of them had met Mrs. Crespin. It was smothered, talked under and shunted; and Traherne, the American officer, and the Bishop more than half hoped that Agnew, at the other end of the table from Crespin, had not noticed or realized. He had given no sign.

But at "Gentlemen, the King," as Agnew lifted his glass, Major Crespin, swaying a little on his feet, clutched at the back of the chair, and collapsed half onto his chair, half onto the table.

He was suffering exquisite bodily torture. Traherne had done what he could.

But his mental torment was more than his quivering of fevered flesh and frightened trembling of sick, circling stomach. And his sorrow and shame of spirit were more than his wife's were, lying tearless, face down on her own bed. And Dr. Traherne pitied Crespin even more than he pitied Lucilla, even more than he pitied unconscious, happy Iris and Ronald.

Traherne slid his strong arm carefully under Crespin's head, and held a glass of champagne deftly to his mouth. In spite of himself, in spite of his despair, the wine tasted good.

Crespin drained the glass, and looked around to see where the bottle was.

"You've had it all, old chap," Traherne told him. "Now try to rest a bit. I won't be long."

"You're not going to leave me!"

"Sorry, but must. I'll be back as soon as I can. And I'll tell Abdul what to do for you."

"Traherne, you must not leave me."

"I wouldn't if any one else could do what I've got to, but no one can," said Dr. Traherne. "I must attend to it myself, and I must attend to it now."

Crespin called weakly after him. "I suppose—my wife—knows."

Traherne evaded. "She knows you slept here last night. I sent her a chit when we came in."

"O Lord," Crespin told him, "you're the real stuff, Traherne!"

"Of course I am—to you. Now I am off. So long!"

"I say," Crespin pleaded anxiously, "can I have another drink?"

"Not yet," Traherne told him. "You shall, when I get back, with something to eat."

"Don't!" the sick man groaned. "For God's sake don't be long."

Traherne left him then, closing the door of the darkened room with careful quiet.

CHAPTER III

DOCTOR TRAHERNE was persona grata at Colonel Agnew's bungalow. He came and went as he would; always welcomed, always regretfully sped. But that bungalow door was practically shut in his face this morning.

The Colonel Commander Sahib was writing his English chits; no one could see him. And when the khansamah had said if he deliberately, though obsequiously, barred the way. At the far end of the hall the physician saw an orderly waiting outside Agnew's den. No doubt the orderly was armed; and Traherne was not.

But he was going to see the Colonel, and have considerable speech of him, too, before the English mail went.

"Right-o, then," he said cheerfully, "but I'll wait here a bit, and cool off before I go."

A gong, a disk of hammered brass, slung in a frame of carved and inlaid camphor-wood stood beside a bowl of magnolia buds on the Tottenham Court table. It never was used. Not even Kathleen Agnew dared used it.

He was suffering exquisite bodily torture.

Doctor Traherne used it now.

He picked up the mallet, and whacked that gong as if he'd suddenly gone gong-beating mad.

Ali Halim clutched at him. The khansamah almost knelt at his feet, and tears of sheer fright brimmed in the old native's eyes. Private Grainger stood soldierly stock-still on guard, waiting outside his Colonel's door.

"What the hell!" raged Colonel Agnew as he wrenched the door open, and nearly wrenched it off.

"I beg your pardon, sir," Traherne said nicely, laying down the mallet. "But I must see you. And Halim would neither let me go in, or tell you I was here."

"Quite right," was the gruff reply. "Come back tomorrow."

"I must see you now," Traherne insisted.

"'Must' be damned!" the Colonel spluttered. "Go away. And don't come back here—tomorrow or ever!"

Dr. Traherne laid his hand on the older man's arm. "It is positively necessary, sir. I must speak to you now—and alone."

"What's it about?" the irate Colonel demanded. "You'll have to wait. I tell you!"

"That's just what I can't do, sir," Doctor Traherne assured him, "and we can't discuss it here."

Agnew gave the physician's face a shrewd, searching glance.

"Cholera worse at Meean Mir?" he said a trifle more quietly. "You're not going off there, are you? We want to finish those hospital plans, you know."

"No—not cholera anywhere. Let us go into your own room, sir——"

"You go sit down somewhere else, and have a drink. I'll see you after I've finished a dispatch—to catch the home mail—if it's as important as that," Agnew told him.

"I'm sorry, Colonel Agnew," Traherne said respectfully, "but I must speak to you before you send anything to the outpost."

"You seem to think yourself in command," the Colonel blustered.

"No," Traherne denied, "or I'd not need to disturb you, sir."

"You'll have to be damned quick," Agnew said surlily as he turned back to his room.

NAVAL SESSION FACES LONG DELAY

for 70 per cent of American strength in 8-inch cruisers. The United States delegates expressed hope that somehow the issue would be settled, but they had no idea of the method.

Submarines Hit

Fourth, foreign minister Dino Grandi had prepared a memorandum on Italy's position which was likely to cause further gnashing of teeth. Although Grandi did not make his memorandum public, the United Press was reliably informed of its contents.

The memorandum will specify that Italy favors a battleship holiday and is prepared to abolish submarines if all other powers do.

It will accept the French tonnage figures, though deploring they were not lower, and will emphasize that Italy must have the right to build a similar fleet. Italy still favors the Root resolution virtually barring the use of submarines as commerce destroyers.

Grandi is highly unlikely to mention Italy's own minimum tonnage requirements on the grounds it is sufficient to state that Italy accepts the French figures instead.

Anxious To Reduce

Italy's insistence on the right to a navy equal to France's has made the Americans and British all the more anxious to cut down the French total.

There is a growing feeling among the American delegates that an amendment to the Kellogg anti-war pact might give France the security she wishes and so induce her to reduce her demands.

The Hoover administration long has felt that the pact needed some machinery by which the signatories could consult in case war was threatened. Whether the French would accept such a "consultative" arrangement as putting sufficient "teeth" in the treaty is not known. If they do and are willing to cut their naval program accordingly, it is believed the United States Senate might consent to the amendment.

Everybody is moving slowly and cautiously. This is regarded as the most critical period of the conference, when one tactless step might bring serious complications and possible failure.

REALTOR HELD ON RUM COUNT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 18.—UP—Developments within the past 12 hours, chief of which was the indictment of Barned Goodman, prominent realtor and Kansas City clubman for violations of the prohibition law, indicated tonight the pressure federal authorities were exerting to clamp the lid down on Kansas City's illicit liquor traffickers.

Goodman, arrested New Year's eve in a Kansas City club, was charged in two counts with possession and transportation of liquor. Indictments for 52 others, 39 of these Kansas Cityians, were returned by the grand jury investigating activities of liquor rings here.

While the grand jury was in session, Judge Albert L. Reeve issued padlock orders to close 210 alleged speakeasies for one year for liquor law violations.

County Wars On Illegal Flying

Chicago School Head Wins Loan

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—UP— The go-getting president of Chicago's school board, H. Wallace Caldwell announced from New York tonight that at last he had convinced bankers there of Chicago's solvency.

In the face of general belief that Chicago was bankrupt, it took him two weeks to do it, but by dint of high pressured salesmanship, he arranged purchase of $48,725,000 worth of school board tax anticipation warrants, Caldwell wired officials here.

The money will be used for the most part to pay 13,000 school teachers who have not received pay since the first of the year and to keep the schools running until delayed taxes finally are collected this summer.

Cow Milked On Plane Flight

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18.—UP— At an added attraction today to the international aircraft show, "Ollie the Flying Queen"—a one thousand pound cow, was given a 30 minute airplane ride over St. Louis and was milked at a heighth of 2000 feet.

Ollie paid little attention to the activities far above the earth. An occasional glance of out of the window and the chewing of her cud were the only movements she made.

The milk was placed in containers and allowed to float to earth on toy parachutes.

FRENCH MOVE TO FORM CABINET

PARIS, Feb. 18.—UP—French politicians formed two lines today. One led to Elyse palace, where President Gaston Doumergue was getting leaders' ideas as to who ought to succeed Premier Andre Tardieu, overthrown last night on a minor tax issue.

The second led to Tardieu's sick bed, and consisted of friends who urged him to do the obvious—consent to form another cabinet with some radical Socialists in it.

By sundown Tardieu had given Doumergue no assurance he would accept the job if offered, but he was busy on his bedside telephone presumably talking to men who might help him form a ministry when the time came.

Call Seen

It was believed the president might first call on Deputy Camille Chautemps or Senator Theodore Steeg to organize a cabinet. Both are members of the radical socialist party which helped bring about Tardieu's defeat. Forming a ministry is difficult, however, and it was expected the task eventually would fall either to Tardieu or Aristide Briand.

Raymond Poincare, four times cabinet chief of France, who has recovered from a recent illness, called on Doumergue today. This action caused belief that the new cabinet might include Poincare as premier, the veteran Briand as foreign minister and Tardieu as minister of marine, an arrangement making it possible for Tardieu to retain his leadership of the French delegation at the London naval conference.

Tardieu aLuded

Knowledge that France's activity at London must be tied up completely until a new government is formed hastened Doumergue's preliminary conferences. Names of possible premiers flew thick and fast all day, including Senator Maurice Sarraut, proprietor of the influental southern newspaper Depeche De Toulouse, and Senator Etienne Clementel, radical Socialist and former minister.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.

employes, which was a day's work in itself.

Clark E. Bell, southern California supervisor for New York Life produced a certificate, signed by the president and vice-president of the company, showing that his was the company's largest agency in the United States.

"Well, I am chairman of the agency committee," Coolidge said. "And I see no reason why I should not sign the certificate too."

Whereupon he took a fountain pen from his pocket and affixed the signature that signed scores of Congressional measures and treaties.

When Coolidge emerged from the building, he found that the untiring crowd was still waiting. He led an impromptu parade as he returned to his hotel.

At noon, Coolidge was a guest at an insurance luncheon, from which the public and newspaper reporters were barred. Mrs. Coolidge lunched in Hollywood.

The Coolidges have been deluged by invitations to do everything from solving international problems to naming babies, they said. They will be luncheon guests of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks at the United Artists studio Wednesday and on Thursday will go to Catalina Island as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Wrigley, Jr. The Wrigleys dined in the Coolidge's hotel suite tonight.

DeMolay News

Plans for a show to be held in the near future, probably on May 1 or after, were made by a committee from the Richmond chapter of DeMolay at a meeting last night.

The committee includes Bud Koses, Lawrence Theis, Everett Engleman, John Abby and Joseph M. Zink.

A committee meeting will be held tonight at the home of Lawrence Theis to make plans for a dance to be held March 15 at the Carquinez clubhouse.

Church Group Hears Talk On Criminals

Ladies night was held by the Men's Brotherhood of the First Christian church last night at the church parlors, with a large number of members and their wives in attendance.

The program included vocal selections by Clarence Brown, Clare Thomas and Walter Moorefl They were assisted at the piano by Mrs. Clare Thomas.

Violin selections were presented qby Roswell A. Johnson, who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Primus Bennett. Johnson lives at Cambridge, Mass.

Miss Belle Woodford and Clarence Brown, accompanied by Mrs. Clare Thomas, presented several vocal selections. Rev. Primus Bennett, pastor of the church, presented a number of old time songs.

Dr. T. A. Boyer, county porbation officer was the speaker of the evening. His subject was, "How Do They Get That Way?"

He explained how $10,000,000,000 was spent trying to solve the problem of crime, declaring that this is almost $100 per capita.

In discussing the cause of crime, he declared that 90 percent of crime is due to deceased, and defective brains. Other causes of crime he listed as "too large families, too much money, too little money, too much fredom, too little freedom, sentimental women, and automobiles."

Boys and girls should be trained for fatherhood and motherhood, he declared, as it would aid in better citizenship and the lessening of crime.

Warren Brown was in charge of the meeting.

HI-Y TOLD ABOUT CHINA

"China" was the subject of a talk given by Rev. Alden Pratt of the First Presbyterian church of Richmond last night before a meeting of the Boys' Hi-Y. Rev. Pratt described his experiences as a missionary in China, and told of the customs of the people among whom he had lived and taught for many years.

A report on the Y. M. C. A. convention held last Saturday and Sunday at San Jose was given by Walter Thomas at last night's meeting of the Hi-Y.

It was announced by Bernard Follett, chairman of the social committee, that a theater party would be held by the club Feb. 28 at the Dufwin theater in Oakland. Arrangements for the affair are in the hands of Follett and Jack McLean.

Postmaster Test To Be Held Soon

Notices have been sent out by the United States Civil Service commission that a competitive examination for the position of postmaster in the city of Richmond is to be held.

The position to be filled is that vacated by James Long, who resigned some time ago to accept the position of county supervisor from this district.

John A. Miller, has been temporarily appointed to the post and will be one of the leading candidates in the examination.
